2014 Cape Cod Invitational Tournament

With 3 of the best courses that New England has to offer, the USSGA's Cape Cod Invitational Tournament never worries about subscription. Each year we are greeted by old friends, familiar faces and newcomers (also known as Red Dots in the USSGA) to Wianno each June. This year we had an even larger subscription of players due to the unfortunate weather that Ekwanok Country Club in Vermont had over the winter, causing them to lose a few of their greens and cancel their USSGA Event. This year we were blessed with three spectacular days at Cape Cod's three best golf clubs it has to offer. The first round which was played at Hyannisport, Saturdays golf at Oyster Harbors and Sundays rounds at Wianno were delightful. Three Flights of 8 (24 teams) competed in Four-Ball Match Play at Scratch, and a 4th flight of 4 teams played a Round Robin Match Play at Scratch. Match Play embodies the true essence of golf whereby each player can stay aggressive and not have to worry about their Medal Score at the end of the round. This type of play lends itself to more excitement and heroic shots.

In the Fourth Flight, winners went to Bill Mynatt (Jupiter Island Club) and his partner Dave Bentley (Country Club of New Canaan) out battled the pairings of Hugh O'Kane (Piping Rock Club) and Jim Hynes (Quail Hollow Club). In the Third Flight Wianno's own Pip Danby and his partner Twig Stickney (Pound Ridge) were crowned with the win over runners up John Herrell (Rochester Golf & CC) and David Fay (Newport Country Club). In the Second Flight the team of Stan Freimuth (Seattle Golf Club) and Bob Kaufmann (Round Hill Club) defeated Chuck Rawley (Hole-in-the-Wall) and Tim Ryan (Cherry Hills). In the First Flight the team of Davis Driver (Desert Mountain) and partner John James (Broken Top) defeated Edward Armfield (Old Town) and Joe Lawler (Old Elm).

In the Ladies Competition, Anne Farrington (The Country Club) and Loiuse Patry (Beaconsfield Golf Club) won the two day Better Ball of Partners. On Day One at Hyannisport Club, the winners of the Four-Ball were crowned to Barbara Boyd (Baltusrol), Joan Fay (Newport Country Club), Spot Lawler (Old Elm) and Wianno's own Susan DiCamillo. The Four-Ball winners on day Two at Wianno were crowned to Barbara Boyd (Baltusrol) Nina McKee (Prouts Neck), Cindy Freimuth (Seattle Golf Club) and Wianno's own Sally Sammis.

A special thanks to our Tournament Committee Chairs, Mr. & Mrs. Bob Baer, for all of their efforts in making this years' event a huge success. Compliments also to our Tournament Committee members, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Rick McCoy, Mr. & Mrs. Dick Sammis, and Pip Danby. Thank you!

Back! Hit! Stop!

Keeping Your Golf Swing In Sync

With Aaron Karr, PGA

When a typical golfer tries to hit the ball farther, they generally try harder, swing quicker from the top, and completely lose their "sense" of where the club is. The result is a miss-hit shot, which never travels very far. A great fix for this problem is the "Back! Hit! Stop!" drill.

Drill: Start with making five practice swings, verbally saying "Back!" at the top of your swing, "Hit!" at impact and "Stop!" at the end of the finish. Do this until your vocalizations are right on time with the key points. Then, do the same exercise with five balls lined up. Keep practicing until you can get your voice to do the "Back! Hit! Stop!" at the key moments of the swing. As you hit balls, the key is to pay special attention to when your voice comes out. If it's earlier than it should be, this means you aren't focusing on the club, you're anticipating something else and/or trying to muscle or force your shots.

The Fix: This is what's killing your power! Once you can be with the club all the way through, then your swing will be in sync and you'll get much more out of your shots. It's amazing what a little vocalization can do.
